The Farmer's Wife

Is very careful about her churn. She scalds it thoroughly after using, and gives it a sun bath to sweeten it. She knows that if her churn is sour it will taint the butter that is made in it. The stomach is a churn. In the stomach and digestive and nutritive tracts are performed processes which are almost exactly like the churning of butter. Is it not apparent then that if this stomach-churn is foul it makes foul all which is put into it?

The evil of a foul stomach is not alone the bad taste in the mouth and the foul breath caused by it, but the corruption of the pure current of blood and the dissemination of disease throughout the body. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery makes the sour and foul stomach sweet. It does for the stomach what the washing and sun bath do for the churn—absolutely removes every tainting or corrupting element. In this way it cures blotches, pimples, eruptions, scrofulous swellings, sores, or open eating ulcers and all humors or diseases arising from bad blood.

If you have bitter, nasty, foul taste in your mouth, coated tongue, foul breath, are weak and easily tired, feel depressed and despondent, have frequent headaches, dizzy attacks, gnawing or distressing stomach, constipated or irregular bowels, sour or bitter risings after eating and poor appetite, these symptoms, or any considerable number of them, indicate that you are suffering from biliousness, torpid or lazy liver with the usual accompanying indigestion, or dyspepsia and their attendant derangements.

The best agents known to medical science for the cure of the above symptoms are Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., for a free copy of his booklet of extracts from the standard medical authorities, giving the names of all the ingredients entering into his world-famed medicine, and showing what the most eminent medical men of the age say of them.

A PLEA FOR THE ROBIN.

The familiar and welcome song of the robin is heard in spring throughout the American continent. Its range is from the tablelands of Mexico to the desolate regions of Hudson bay in the 53rd degree of north latitude. This wide distribution and love for the home of man has given him a close place in the hearts of the people of the United States. At present through the efforts of the Virginia Audubon Association great interest has been aroused in the preservation of this bird, not only for its aesthetic value, but especially for its economic value to our state and nation.
The robin is still on the game list of Virginia and it is a shame and disgrace to us that it is allowed to continue so.
All the states in the union give its protection save the Old Dominion.

From the 15th of February to the 1st of April thousands are slaughtered annually in a cruel and wanton manner.
When the spring migration sets in, when on their north bound journey, back to their loved homes, dressed in their wooing garments and bringing the glad news of a new life to the earth, then it is as they enter our old state, asking shelter and a resting place, that they are met by a host of men and boys who stand ready with paddles and guns to do their bloody work, thus depriving not only Virginia but the whole nation of one of its most beautiful and useful insect-eating song birds. There is so much sentiment about the red breast; the bird of legend, song and story. There is said to be much sentiment about the robin in old Virginia, but away with sentiment which ends in "pit-pies and robins on toast." We get out of our cradles with a copy of Mother Goose in our hands as we turn its pages, our fathers and mothers soon teach our lisping tongues the tragedy of Cock Robin. Our eyes are blinded with tears as they relate the sad story of his death and we will not be comforted in our grief. A little later the scene changes and these same fathers shoot these tiny morsels, and these same mothers cook and serve on lordly dishes the friends of our happy childhood. Yes! feast on the robin who "brought fire from heaven to man," feast on the robin who moistens the lips of the doomed souls in Gehenna.

"He brings cool dew in his little bill And lets it fall on the souls of sin; You can see the marks on his red breast still Of fire that scorches as he drops it in."

Oh! the robin, that blessed bird that plucked one thorn from the dying Saviour's brow and received from his lips a benediction—"Because thou hast done this thy breast shall glow eternally tinged with my blood; thou shalt be loved and known of all men, thy home shall be near his habitation and thy voice shall gladden the earth." Legends you will say. Yes—but legends such as these have moved the world.
Many a wanderer has been called back to home and loved ones by the "Call of the Robin." Audubon tells us, in his own words, how discouraged in the wilds of Labrador, he had determined to end his misery, but falling asleep he was awakened by the voice of this sweet singer which recalled home and loved ones far away and he arose strong to continue his journey. Thus was saved through this little bird a valuable life and work given to the world that make his name an honor to the southland, and known throughout the civilized nations. Our distinguished sculptor, Edward V. Valentine, has just completed a masterpiece of Audubon to be placed in Audubon park, New Orleans, and the grand old mace covered oak he loved so well. The statue is a gift from the legislature of Louisiana to the city of his birth and on May 4th, 1908, the robin was declared protected. Audubon is represented dressed in hunter's costume, standing on a ledge of rock, his gun giving place to the palette and brush in the hand. A new vision opens up before him, the vision that comes to all in the 19th century, that the "bird in the bush is worth two in the hand." His beautiful face illumined with joy is turned upward in an attitude of listening—yes—listening to the "Call of the Robin." Would it not be a fitting return for the compliment paid by Louisiana to Virginia in selecting her gifted son to carry out this design to give us our heart desire—protection for our red breasts.

PERRY BELMONT'S PRIZE.
Perry Belmont, while shooting over the preserves of the Chateau de Rochefort in France, the estate of Monsieur and Madame Jules Porges, caused a sensation by bringing down a strange bird with a tail four feet long. According to ornithologists it is a specimen of a very rare species known as the "Falsan Ve-ner." The trophy was brought to the Hotel Ritz, Paris, where the Belmonts are stopping, and Mrs. Belmont is having it made into a hat which is likely to set other fashionable women wild with envy, as it is practically impossible, "to duplicate the order."
